Section - A (Reading)

1. Read the following passage and answer the question given below : 8

Character is destiny. Character is that on which of a nation is built. If we want to build a great nation we must try to train a large number of young men and women who look upon others as the living images of themselves as our 'Shastras' have so often declared. But whether in public life or in student life, we cannot reach great heights if we are lacking in character. We cannot climb the mountain when the very ground at our feet is crumbling. When the very basis of our structure is shaky, how can we reach heights which we have set before ourselves? We must all have humility. Our life should be clean, noble and dedicated to the service of mother India. we must know how much we can put into service. That should be the principle which should animate our youths. The whole of the east reflects our culture.

- (a) What is meant by saying that character is destiny? 1
- (b) What do our 'Shastras' teach us? 1

2. Read the following passage and answer the question given below : 12

Trees are a most useful gift of nature to man. Without trees it would be very bleak world. Without them life would be impossible. Now let's see what trees do for us.

Men in olden days used wood for making their homes, rafts, canoes and weapons. They used it as fuel to cook and to keep themselves warm.

In present time also, man is no less dependent on trees. He has, no doubt, invented many things that can take the place of wood. He has began to use concrete, steel, glass and plastics in place of wood. But even then the demand for wood has increased vastly.

For example, we need lots and lots of wood for making paper, card board and packing cases.

Trees are, in valuable for other reason also. There is oxygen in the air, but it being constantly used up and turned into carbon dioxide. With the help of sunlight they break it into carbon and oxygen. The carbon is used by green leaves to make starch. The oxygen is released back into air.

Trees also help to cool the atmosphere. The leaves of trees give out a lot of water vapour. It helps to cool the air. When rain cloud pass through the cool air they condense and came down as rain. That is why there is a greater rainfall over places where we have thick forests. Trees are man's best friends. They are God's greatest gift to man. They are invaluable wealth of a nation. It is our sacred duty to protect them and look after them well. For every tree that is cut down, we must plant least two new trees and take care of them.
